Release Info:

Artist: This Is Pan
Title: The Hudson Suite
Format: Digital / 3D Object
Label: ANUK

Genre: Elastic Jazz

After the début album from 2015, the quartet has now released its second album: «The Hudson Suite» centers on the river in the state of New York. In the language of contemporary jazz, «This Is Pan» shows its own version of «East Coast Americana».

The album has not been released as a CD but is available using a download code which can be obtained on an artistically designed, three-dimensional paper sculpture. The work of designer Yan Hirschbühl gives the music visible and palpable depth – and at the same time is a work of art in its own right.

The music stretches really slowly, sleek and supple, gradually approaching a tension borderline. Tones are lengthened, rules bent. Like in a maelstrom, the individual instruments are then dragged back on to their original path just to start spreading themselves out on it again – teasing elasticity. And then a loud bang. Followed by silence.

Elastic Jazz

The music by This Is Pan has earned its own classification – elastic jazz. The four musicians – Matthias Kohler, saxophone and clarinet, Lukas Thoeni, trumpet and flugelhorn, André Pousaz, bass, and Gregor Hilbe, drums – expertly play with this elasticity. The quartet is constantly changing the form of its pieces, the instruments move away from the rest individually, trying to find their way, but coming back to return to their original form. Elements from pop, rock and classic are playfully woven into the pieces.
